Republicans Predict New Men Will Be Elected In Fall Voting

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—President Truman's hopes of getting important administration legislation before the house next year were brightened today by the defeat of Rep. Roger C. Slaughter, D. Md.

Provided, of course, the Democrats manage to retain control of the house. Some political observers doubt they will.

Slaughter was a member of the house rules committee which passes on bills before they go to the floor. He consistently opposed administration measures. He was regarded as the deciding factor in keeping legislation for a permanent fair employment practices commission bottled up at the last session of congress.

A majority vote of the rules committee is necessary to send a bill to the house floor. For many months the bill had been stalled in the committee without action. But after a letter from Mr. Truman on the subject, Chairman Adolph J. Sabath, D. Ill., agreed to bring the matter to a vote.

According to informed reports at the time of the ballot, six of the then-available members of the committee favored sending the FEPC bill to the floor. The other five—all southern Democrats—were opposed. Slaughter was in Kansas City at the time. He flew back to Washington, arriving a few hours before the vote. And the FEPC measure stayed in the rules committee, reportedly on a 6-5 tie vote.

Slaughter's defeat in the Missouri primary, following Mr. Truman's intervention in behalf of his

FIREBUG HUNT GOES ON; NEW EVIDENCE FOUND

Discovery of what appeared to have been an attempt to burn a barn at the rear of the home of Charles Ater, 314 South Pickaway street, Thursday had spurred efforts to apprehend a "firebug" blamed for three alleged incendiary blazes in Circleville.

Three of six fires Monday night were set, according to Fire Chief Talmer Wise, and at his request the state fire marshal's office sent Deputy State Fire Marshal William Icenhauer, Washington, C. H. and Lawrence Hyde, Rushville, a special investigator, to Circleville. Hyde left Wednesday but Marshal Icenhauer remained in the city Thursday to continue the investigation. He is being assisted by firemen and police.

A scorched place on the barn was noted Wednesday afternoon by Ater when he was cutting the grass and weeds near the building. Near the scorched wood Ater found fragments of burned paper. Chief Wise and Police Chief William F. McCready, who were called to the scene, declared they believed an attempt was made, probably Monday night, to burn the Ater barn. They said also that three barn fires Monday night were, in their opinion, the work of a pyromaniac.

New World Food Plan Is Proposed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The United Nations food and agriculture organization today proposed an international ever-normal granary, declaring that the world cannot have hunger and peace too. It said the granary should be administered by a permanent world food board. It would attempt to stabilize world food prices, channel surplus foods to undernourished nations and build up food reserves to tide the world over a disastrous crop year.

In addition, it would cooperate with other international agencies such as the world bank in developing trade and industry to create buying power for food products. The proposal will be submitted to the food organization's world conference which opens at Copenhagen Sept. 2.

The agency said the only alternative to some plan to control surpluses and wipe out hunger "is a drift back to nationalistic policies—which may well be the

Russians Accused Of Taking Children From Homes For 'Re-Education'

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—Several thousand teenage German children were taken from their homes in the Soviet occupation zone in 1945 for what the Russians described as "re-education" and have not yet been returned, a high German official said today.

Although this official enjoys the confidence of United States authorities, his statement could not be confirmed except by reports of "missing" children which have reached German church officials and neutral welfare organizations. The German official said several thousand German boys and girls between the ages of 13 and 17 were being held in camps and were given no opportunity to communicate with their parents.

The children were supposed to have disappeared at various times from April to December, 1945. About nine boys were said to have been taken for every girl. Parents have been arriving in Berlin in increasing numbers to report missing children. They have appealed to Soviet authorities, German officials said today.

TONY LAZZERI IS FOUND DEAD; FUNERAL FRIDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—Anthony Mark (poosh 'em up Tony) Lazzeri, who came up from the fisherman's wharf district to become one of baseball's greatest infielders, will be buried here tomorrow in the city where he launched his diamond career. The lithe former infield sparkplug of the New York Yankees was found dead in his home late yesterday, the victim of an apparent heart attack.

His body was discovered at the foot of a landing near the entrance to their home by his wife, who cut short a northern California vacation in response to calls from friends who had been unable to locate him.

The onetime guiding hand in the Yankees' infield would have been 42 Dec. 6. In addition to his wife, he is survived by a son, David Anthony, 14.

Since his retirement from the game at the close of the 1941 season, Lazzeri had been the co-owner of a downtown cocktail bar in addition to touring veterans' hospitals and assisting with sandlot baseball camps.

OPPOSITION TO PARTITION PLAN SPREADS FAST

Leader Says Arabs Will Fight If Britain Proceeds With Holy Land Split

JERUSALEM, Aug. 8.—Ahmad Shukairy, head of the Arab office, disclosed today that unofficial contacts have been made with Moscow with a view of obtaining Soviet support for Palestine Arabs in opposing Britain's proposed partition of the Holy Land.

Shukairy said that it was possible that an Arab delegation would be sent to Moscow even before the Palestine issue is raised before the United Nations general assembly now scheduled to meet Sept. 23 at New York City.

"We are already somewhat late in doing this," he said, but added that unofficial contacts with the Soviet had been made and that official contacts will follow.

Shukairy emphasized that Arabs oppose in strongest fashion the British plan to split Palestine into separate Arab and Jewish provinces under British control. He predicted that the Arab states will not participate in the discussions Britain has scheduled so long as partition is on the agenda.

He also reemphasized that Arabs would not participate in any round-table discussion with the Jews. Arab states which already have accepted invitations to the London conference, he said, did so before they knew that Britain had the partition plan in mind. Shukairy's statement came as the British commander-in-chief in Palestine, Lieut. Gen. Sir Evelyn Barker, canceled his non-fraternization order to British troops. The order couched in language which was repudiated by the London government, had forbidden British troops to associate with Jews in any manner in order to show their "scorn" of Jewish extremist tactics.

Simultaneously, however, military preparations in Palestine were in full swing. British troops were reported moving northward toward Haifa, part of debarkation of many Jewish illegal refugees. Britain (Continued on Page Two)

BRITISH MOVE TO PREVENT ALL ILLEGAL ENTRY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Great Britain has informed the United States that she has taken drastic steps to halt illegal entry of Jews into Palestine, informed sources reported today.

According to these sources, the British government informed the state department that all ships carrying Jews in excess of a 1,500 monthly quota will be diverted from Palestine harbors to the island of Cyprus in the eastern Mediterranean.

Unofficial spokesmen did not interpret the British action as an attempt to influence the outcome of conferences here on the Palestine situation.

President Truman was scheduled to confer today with U. S. members of an Anglo-American committee in an effort to reach a compromise on the British proposal to divide Palestine into four federated states. Other Palestine matters also will be discussed.

Harlem 'Heaven' Rejoices At Wedding Of Father Divine And White 'Angel'

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—The "Heavens" rejoiced today over the marriage of Father Divine, 71, to "a lovely blonde angel" from Montreal.

Rumors of the self-styled Negro Messiah's marriage to Edna Rose Ritchings, a 21-year-old white girl had flitted through the "Heavens" for weeks—they were married in Washington April 29—but it was not until yesterday that the public was let in on the secret.

Announcement of the marriage was received with rejoicing among Father Divine's followers.

Sale Of Liquor May Be Banned Here During Fair

Legal sale of liquor in Circleville may be banned—Circleville that is—during the four-day Pickaway County Fair to be held Sept. 11 through 14, and during Circleville's 40th annual Pumpkin Show, set for Oct. 16 through 19.

This was disclosed Thursday when it was learned that officials of the Circleville Women's Christian Temperance Union were planning to demand enforcement of a 58-year-old Ohio law which prohibits the sale of intoxicants within a two-mile radius of a county fair or similar agricultural exposition or event.

Mrs. Lawrence Warner, 490 East Main street is president of the Circleville WCTU group, and Mrs. Ralph Long, 469 East Franklin street, is secretary. Mrs. J. O. Eagleson is the county vice president of the WCTU.

Mrs. Warner said that enforcement of the 1888 law will be sought by the local WCTU at the request of the Ohio WCTU which recently brought the law to the attention of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control and asked that liquor sales near county fairs throughout the state be banned. The State Liquor Control Board asked the attorney general's office for a legal ruling on the question but that ruling has not yet been announced.

RIBBON PURCHASE COSTS OHIO GIRLS $1,727.94

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 8.—Two girls, employed at the Toledo club, made a small purchase at the ribbon counter of a dime store here but they discovered later that their purchase actually cost $1,727.94.

Eileen Gohl and Evelyn Shorft carried a package of money for the club when they entered the store yesterday to buy the ribbon. They left the store with the ribbon but forgot the package. They returned to the store when they discovered their loss, but the package was gone.

Miss Mary B. Ervin, executive secretary of the Ohio WCTU, said at Columbus that the organization has urged all local WCTU organizations to demand enforcement of the 58-year-old law without waiting for the attorney general's opinion. Miss Ervin announced that organization has been assured that the sale of liquor in

LAW NOT USED

COLUMBUS, Aug. 8.—State Liquor Director Robert M. Sohngen said today he did not intend to invoke a 58-year old law to prohibit sale of liquor in Warren during the Trumbull county fair this week.

The two-mile radius of both the Pickaway County Fair and the Pumpkin Show embraces all Circleville establishments selling intoxicants.

Police Chief William F. McCready, when asked whether his department will permit the sale of liquor, replied: "Certainly we will permit liquor to be sold."

Asked the same question relative to the county area outside Circleville, Sheriff Charles Radcliff said: "No liquor is sold in the rural territory within a two-mile radius of the County Fair or the Pumpkin Show and therefore the situation presents no problem to my department."

Mayor Ben H. Gordon, president of the Pumpkin Show Society, said: "We will abide by whatever ruling is made by the attorney general and the State Liquor Control Board. We intend, of course, to be law-abiding."

NEW LIST OF WAR PROFITEERS BEING SET UP

Alleged Violations Found In Check Of Government; Sensations Promised

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The general accounting office today prepared a new list of alleged war profiteers and government officials suspected of "improper" conduct.

The cases were disclosed by routine audits of government books, and will be turned over to the senate war investigating committee within 10 days.

The GAO report and the biggest flood of tips in the committee's four-year history promise greater sensations than the hearings into the Garsson munitions combine, committee sources said.

Federal bureau of investigation agents meanwhile hunted for thieves who rifled committees files on the Garsson case. Committee counsel George Meader hinted that the theft was an "inside" job. Names of suspects have been received, he said.

Meader disclosed that the "number of cases" which the GAO will bring to the attention of the Mead committee include:

1. Instances of improper action on the part of government officials favoring a particular contractor with whom the official had past, present or prospective connections.
2. Improper claims by government officials for allowances.
3. Expenditures on the part of war contractors which they have sought to charge improperly to the cost of performance on government contracts.
4. Examples of highly profitable cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts.

New Atomic Test Plans Being Made

OFF BIKINI ATOLL, Aug. 8.—Plans already are underway to explode an atomic bomb 3,000 feet underwater off Bikini sometime next Spring, Vice Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, Operation Crossroads commander, disclosed today.

Blandy told a press conference that plans so far were "mostly on paper" and that he has not as yet submitted a detailed outline to the joint chiefs of staff.

But he said the present schedule calls for 15 to 20 target ships to be attached to towlines anchored four or five islands on the southwestern edge of Bikini lagoon. The ships would be held out to sea by northeastern tradewinds.

Blandy said that "Test Charley" would have to be held around April 1 because the winds shift to the southeast after that. In that event, target ships would be driven ashore.

Scientists have contended that the deep underwater explosion would be the only one of the three crossroads tests that would give the atom bomb a fair chance to show what it can do against target ships.

Both in last month's air burst and shallow underwater tests, so much of the bomb's energy was dissipated that many ships escaped the hammer blows they would have received had the shock and pressure been more fully contained in the water, experts said.

Blandy concurred with this opinion, saying that exploding the bomb deep underwater would allow it to "exert its great force more fully." He predicted waves "considerably higher" than the 80-foot crests kicked up by the Baker day explosion.

HEIRENS ARRAIGNED

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—William Heirens was arraigned today on a third formal murder charge and the court ordered him examined by alienists.

Nazi Plan To Collect Jew Skulls Bared

NUERNBERG, Aug. 8.—The war crimes court today received evidence of a ghastly Nazi scheme to collect the undamaged skulls of "live Jewish Bolshevik commissars" for an anatomical museum at Strasbourg.

SS Col. Wolfram Sievers was charged with taking part in the skull collecting experiment, and admitted that he knew about the plan. The prosecution presented the evidence in rounding out its case against the Nazi SS or Elite guard, one of the organizations on trial here.

Documents presented to the tribunal sketched the scheme, the origin of which was attributed to Heinrich Himmler, Gestapo chief who gulped poison after he was arrested at the end of the war.

The bearded Sievers admitted that he knew about a collection of skulls which were sent in individual metal containers to Strasbourg, but denied that he had any part in it.

The documents showed that the victims were taken alive to a secret place, where great care was (Continued on Page Two)

HERBERT URGES SALES TAX CUT

GOP gubernatorial Candidate Urges Two Per Cent Program In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Aug. 8.—Thomas J. Herbert, Republican candidate for governor, today called for an immediate reduction in the state sales tax from three to two percent.

In addition to the retail sales tax reduction, Herbert asked the state to withdraw from "sufficient fields of taxation to enable local governments to solve their own local tax problems."

The steps would result in a $50,000,000 a year reduction in state-collected taxes, he said. Herbert's statement indicated opposition to creation of a tax study commission to make recommendations to the 1947 legislature. The commission, which would be set up by the projected fourth special session of the 96th General Assembly, was proposed by Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

No steps have been taken by the Lausche administration to carry out tax reduction pledges made in 1944 campaign speeches, Herbert said.

"Certainly we do not need a tax study commission to determine sales tax reduction," Herbert said. "The growing sales tax surplus answers it."

NOXON AND WIFE REUNITED AFTER LIFE IS SPARED

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Biting her lip under emotional tension, attractive Mrs. Margaret Noxon joyfully embraced her lawyer-husband at state prison today after his death sentence for murdering their imbecile infant son had been commuted to life imprisonment.

The pair were reunited in a drab guard room not far from death row where John F. Noxon, Jr., had been confined since his conviction nearly two years ago. The two kissed, then sat on a bench and talked.

Arriving alone in a taxicab, Mrs. Noxon smiled slightly as she alighted from the cab. She showed her first trace of emotion when confronted by newsmen who asked her whether her husband later would seek a full pardon. In a quivering voice she replied: "I haven't heard, I don't know."

Then, visibly shaken, she sat to await her husband. She said her biggest problem now was finding a place to live. "Where?—I don't know," she said. "But somewhere." She had sold her Pittsfield, Mass. home.

RUSSIA RENEWS FIGHT AGAINST VOTING RULES

EVATT IS SATISFIED

Australian Agrees To Plans Made; Molotov Blocks Meeting Progress

PARIS, Aug. 8.—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today renewed his fight against liberalized voting rules by demanding that the peace conference reverse the hard-fought decision of its rules commission.

Molotov brought into the plenary session of the peace conference the same demand that he had repeatedly made in the rules commission—that delegates reject the proposal allowing the conference to send recommendations to the council of ministers by a simple majority as well as by a two-thirds vote.

Georges Bidault, French foreign minister, brought the plenary session to order and called for an immediate vote on the rules. Molotov, however, asked for permission to speak.

"The Soviet delegation," Molotov said, "considers the decision adopted in the procedural commission as erroneous and insists on the conference changing that erroneous decision."

Molotov's attitude contrasted sharply with that of Herbert V. Evatt, Australian foreign minister and leader of the small nations fight for liberalization of voting rules.

Evatt expressed satisfaction with the outcome of his battle despite "filibustering opposition." "It is true that these positive results were not achieved without a long, intensive and stubborn contest involving filibustering opposition," he said, "but this is a price tag that will always have to be paid as witness the sustained and successful struggles for a better charter at San Francisco."

The plenary session came as Italian Premier Alcide de Gasperi arrived to plead Italy's case before the peace conference, urging less harsh terms for his country.

The frail, ascetic-looking Italian leader arrived from Rome to direct the fight against the big four terms. His efforts were aimed particularly against the French-Italian frontier revisions and economic terms.

NEW EQUIPMENT TO MARK PLANE SPEED REVEALED

WRIGHT FIELD, Dayton, O., Aug. 8.—The Air Materiel Command today announced the development of equipment to measure accurately the speed of aircraft flying at any altitude in any weather.

The flight test division has installed radio detection beams at the Army Air Forces' speed courses at Dayton and Muroc Army Air Base, Calif. The Dayton course—with beams at Patterson Field, Sulphur Springs and Vandallia—will be used for checking super-sonic speed aircraft, while the California course will be used to check the speed of rockets and pilotless aircraft.

The installations employ the use of three parallel beams set at right angles to the charted course of the plane. AMC officials said. As the plane crosses each beam a signal is measured against the known distance between beams to show the speed at which the plane is traveling.

The radio beam system to be used on the two courses operated accurately in any weather and any altitude and is the first system capable of measuring speed at or above the speed of sound.

GOVERNOR CALLS SOLONS

The Italian economic memorandum will raise 10 specific points of "injustice" in the treaty drafts. They will emphasize occupation costs, Italian credits resulting from work by Italian prisoners of war and economic losses resulting from German exploitations of Italy. The memorandum is for consideration by the commissions on the Italian treaty.

As the conference moved toward its real work, the rift between the Soviet bloc and the other 15 powers was so deep that few delegates saw any real prospects for the conference proceeding far without further clashes.

The next East-West dispute may arise when Yugoslavia asks the plenary conference to admit Albania as the 22nd member, with her authority limited to the Italian treaty. This almost certainly will precipitate the question of similar applications by Mexico, Egypt, Luxembourg, Cuba and Iran.

Undoubtedly the Russians will support the Albanian application, but will oppose others which could be counted as additions to the anti-Soviet voting strength.

Some parents said they were told by the Russian secret police that their children would be kept for two years.

One neutral welfare agency in Berlin has several lists of children whose parents claim they were taken from their villages in whatever clothes they were wearing—and were not allowed to take any luggage.

One list contains the names of 135 children allegedly taken from Calau county. Another lists 120 children apparently removed from Lueben county. Both of the areas are in Saxony.

Political affiliations of the parents apparently were not considered, according to a welfare agency investigation of the disappearances. Some parents claimed they were members of the German Communist party.

RUSSIAN PRESS PRINTS BYRNES SPEECH IN FULL

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The full text of Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' attack on V. M. Molotov was broadcast from Moscow today, for publication in Russian newspapers.

An official Tass news agency dispatch reported the Byrnes' peace conference speech verbatim. It made no comment on the speech. Tass also distributed the text of Molotov's reply, in which the Soviet foreign minister accepted Byrnes' challenge to publish the American's speech in the Russian press.

Byrnes accused Molotov of trying to arrange big four dictation of the conference, limiting the number of treaty-makers and impugning American motives. Molotov denied the charges and chided Byrnes for his sharp tone.

The board could stabilize world food prices, it said, by setting maximum and minimum prices for specific commodities based on anticipated supply and demand.

The board would buy up commodities when prices fell below the minimum and sell when they went above the maximum.

The food organization said it was unable to estimate at this time how much money would be necessary for the program. Member nations could contribute in direct ratio to the benefits they would derive.

The board also would have some funds of its own since it would be purchasing commodities when prices were low and selling them when prices were higher.

In case production of any commodity threatened to get out of hand and destroy the world balance, the board would negotiate export quotas between the producing nations.

HARLEM HEAVEN REJOICES TODAY

She smiled only once during the 90 minutes she sat at the table. Occasionally she murmured "peace" as one of the many speakers finished talking. She applauded each as he praised her husband, but for the most part she just sat with her chin cupped in the palm of her hand.

She towered over the pudgy Father Divine by several inches as they rose from the table. She appeared to be about five feet, seven inches tall.

Although Father Divine told his followers little of the background of his bride, other than the fact that his "spirit drew her from across the borders, from another country," friends in Montreal said she was a native of Vancouver, B. C., and had been a member of the cult all her life.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ritchings, live in Kerrisdale, a suburban district of Vancouver. An uncle there said last night her parents were "too broken up" to talk of their daughter's marriage.

Previously, Father Divine had hinted at his marriage in an article in New Day, his newspaper, in which he assured his followers that the marriage had the blessing of providence.

"I say now that which was predicted has come to pass," he wrote. "Jesus came through the virgin, and immaculate birth, according to the Christian religion."

"And why is it humanity cannot understand just as explicitly that it is essential for me to search the universe over to find a virgin bride that would be pure and spotless as a lamb that could be offered up to the church for the redemption of the world as I had established the church on the foundation and the conviction that I am the Christ."

"One came—the bride—the lamb's bride—a spotless virgin bride. My spirit drew her from across the borders from another country . . . without my telling her; without my personal request for her to do so."

Father Divine—who has cautioned his angels against sex—was quick to explain in one of his church publications that there was nothing earthly in the marriage.

His bride came to him, he said, "not because she thought I was a good man or because she thought I would appease the human fancies, tendencies and pleasures, but because of the knowledge and recognition that she knows I am God."

Or as his bride put it: "He condescends to take on that beautiful beautiful body to redeem our bodies that we might have life. Isn't it beautiful to be in the presence of God himself?"

Shukairy said that Arab discussions on a "high level inside Palestine" are underway on the plan to send a special delegation of Arab Communists to sound out Soviet opinion. Lebanon is supporting this plan, he said.

Shukairy denied that the Arabs were anti-Communist, saying "we have communists in our midst."

"I think the Russians are better equipped to teach the world how racial and religious discrimination could be eradicated," he said. He said that western democracy and democratic principles had failed in Palestine.

"Palestine now provides an acid test for the Soviet regime," he said. "Whether it will project its philosophy toward assisting the Arabs."

If Britain insists on proceeding with its partition plan, he said that Palestine "which is on the verge of struggle will fight."

He denied that the grand mufti of Jerusalem will go to London, even if the partition scheme is abandoned and said he would remain in Alexandria.

However, he said that the Arab league would reconsider its present ban which excludes the mufti from political activity. He declined to say whether the secret Arab league program agreed upon at the Bloudan conference would be implemented but said that establishment of an Arab Palestine "government in exile" might be necessary.

Within Palestine tension caused by the British military movements and the rising Arab and Jewish anger against the British program was at a high pitch.

During the night bands of Irgun Zvai Leumi Jewish underground circulated widely, posting Arabic posters calling on the Arabs to listen to the Jewish underground radio.

PRESIDENT MAY GET MORE SOLON SUPPORT IN '47

Defeat Of Slaughter, Other Possible Changes May Give President Better Chance

National Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannagan said that in rejecting Slaughter, voters of the fifth Missouri district were registering approval of "a faithful continuation of the policies of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Hannagan said Axtell was nominated by a composite of Democratic, Republican and independent voters and expressed belief that administration support by a similar combination "will be expressed even more emphatically next November."

But Sen. Alexander Wiley, R. Wis., took an opposite view.

"The President of the United States employed the vast power of his office, his collaborators in the political action committee and the full forces of his cronies in the revived Pendergast machine and yet barely managed to 'purge' Slaughter," Wiley said.

"Significantly, the President's choice for congress was nominated by a minority vote, since he received only 48 per cent of the total."

Wiley predicted that the Republican nominee, Albert L. Reeves, Jr., would receive in the November election "the overwhelming support of independent voters who are disgusted with the President's subservience to big city bossism and to radical left-wing dictation."

Nazi Plan To Collect Jew Skulls Bared

Elwyn Jones, British prosecutor, charged Sievers with perjury, the first such charge in the trial. He said Sievers, head of the ancestral and hereditary department of the SS, was a "vital cog in this machine of murder."

Jones cited contradictions between Sievers' testimony to a commission of the tribunal and facts revealed in 12 newly discovered documents found in Berlin and represented as having been prompted by Hitler.

Jones confronted Sievers with a letter from Himmler's adjutant written in November, 1942. It mentioned that Sievers assisted a Dr. Hirt in collecting skulls for the museum.

Sievers, tugging nervously at his beard, said the skulls had been collected for "academic research." He said they were to come from the Oswiecim concentration camp. Jones then read from a letter Sievers sent to Himmler's adjutant enclosing a report from Hirt which said:

"We have a nearly complete collection of skulls of all races and people at our disposal."

"Of the Jewish races, however," in the letter continued, "only a few specimens are available, and as a result it is impossible to arrive at precise conclusions by examining them. The war in the East now presents us with an opportunity to overcome this deficiency."

"By procuring the skulls of Jewish Bolshevik commissars who represent a prototype of repulsive but characteristic sub-human, we have a chance now to obtain a scientific document."

The order specified that the commissars were to be taken alive and treated well while their heads were measured and casts made.

"Following the subsequently induced death of the Jew, whose head should not be damaged, the delegate will separate the head from the body and will forward it to its proper point of destination in a hermetically sealed tin can," the letter said.

NEW LIST OF WAR PROFITEERS BEING SET UP

Comptroller General Lindsay G. Warren informed the committee that all the cases would emphasize the weakness of government procurement laws and practices.

Committee investigator Thomas O'Connell said the committee is so busy merely acknowledging the horde of new leads that it has no time, at present, to try to develop any of them into full-scale investigations.

Looking up from a stack of mail from Oregon, California, Texas, Georgia and Indiana, the mild-mannered committee sleuth wiped his brow and said:

"Most of them say things were pretty bad where they worked. Some of them say their employers were scoundrels. Some of them report that former fellow workmen suddenly blossomed out as war contractors and bought the finest homes in town."

He said it is "highly likely" that some of these voluntary tips may result, months from now, in investigations on much bigger things than the Garson empire's $78,000,000 in war contracts.

BLASTS U. S. TREND

Deaths and Funerals

MRS. CRAYTON WHITCRAFT

Mrs. Edna Alice Whitcraft, 49, wife of Crayton Whitcraft, died Wednesday night in her home, RFD Rock Bridge, in Laurel township, Hocking county.

Mrs. Whitcraft was the daughter of William Anderson and Ida Brown Anderson.

Besides her husband and father Mrs. Whitcraft is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lillian Hampshire, Rock Bridge; and Allene Whitcraft, at home; and six sons, Thurman Whitcraft, Sparta; Clyde Whitcraft, Lancaster; Lester Whitcraft, South Bloomingville; Crayton Whitcraft, Jr., Rock Bridge; and Robert Whitcraft and Harry Whitcraft, both at home.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Gibersonville United Brethren church, with the Rev. C. H. Bennington officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery, on State Route 33 near Enterprise, under direction of the Defenbaugh funeral home, Circleville. Friends may call at the residence Friday night.

RICH AMERICAN PLANS TO BUY HITLER'S YACHT

Two Offers Made For Prize Held By British Officials; Price Is $400,000

BY ROBERT RICHARDS
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Aug. 8 — They're trying to sell Herr Hitler's yacht for $400,000 to some rich American, and it looked today as if at least two were interested.

The 3,600-ton "Grille"—now lying off Britain's east coast—is a war prize of the British admiralty. "We don't own her, we are only the brokers," explained Felix Pierot, of Jacques Pierot, Jr., and sons, "but we're considering all offers."

Pierot said, up to now there have been two.

"One from a wealthy individual," he said, "and the other from a company. Neither indicated what they would do with the yacht, if they buy it, but I suppose the individual would use it for his personal pleasure."

The company, Pierot said, doubtless planned to attract the tourist trade.

"I expect many people might pay," he said, "to ride on Hitler's boat."

The "Grille" has a top speed of 26 knots, and she could take 100 people for a month's cruise without any crowding.

"She will cost very much money to run," Pierot said, "but I don't know how much. Under Dutch laws, not counting the stewards and kitchen help, she took a crew of 40 men. She will need at least that, I think, in American waters."

The "Grille" was turned over to the German navy during the war and used in training work.

"We don't know definitely," Pierot explained, "but we believe that her many cabins may have been left intact. I'm trying to find that out."

The Pierots were doing business in Rotterdam, Holland, as ship brokers until last January.

"We liquidated and came over here," Pierot said. "In Europe there is no more money to buy boats."

For that reason, he believes Hitler's yacht is bound to end up in American hands.

The "Grille" is in excellent running order and will cross the Atlantic under her own power, if she is sold.

Broker Pierot still seemed a little dazed that there are people left in the world who can afford to spend $400,000—even for Hitler's boat.

"But there are at least two," he said.

His ad wasn't in the papers 10 minutes before they called him.

VETERANS MUST REPORT FULL OR PART TIME JOBS

Former Servicemen Getting Readjustment Pay Must Keep BUC Informed

Pickaway county war veterans were reminded Thursday by the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation that if they are receiving readjustment allowances under the GI Bill of Rights they are required by law to report any earnings from either full or part-time jobs.

Such report should be made to the BUC, located in the office of the U. S. Employment Service, basement of the Courthouse in Circleville.

Servicemen were warned that failure to thus report earnings may result in loss of further benefit rights and also may make the GI's liable to prosecution under federal law. The penalty is a fine of not more than $1,000, or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both.

The BUC reported that "quite a few" Pickaway county veterans are now the recipients of readjustment allowances.

Charles H. Jones, administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation which handles the payment of these allowances for the Veterans Administration, said that 111 cases of apparently fraudulent claims had come to the Bureau's attention in the last three months and were now under investigation. These include 36 cases in Cleveland, 13 in the Cincinnati area, 8 in Toledo, 7 in Columbus, 6 in Youngstown, 6 in Athens and 35 elsewhere in the state, he added, most of them being cases in which investigations indicate the servicemen have received earnings from jobs while drawing readjustment allowances of $20 per week for total unemployment. So far, 21 cases have been certified to the Veterans Administration for further action.

The BUC administrator pointed out that although the number of alleged fraud cases was at present very low in Ohio compared with the total number of readjustment allowance claims, a timely warning now might prevent a loss of benefit rights later. During June an average of 76,116 returned veterans per week were receiving readjustment allowances in Ohio.

SOLON PREDICTS NEW ATTITUDE TOWARD RUSSIA

Mundt Says Appeasement Era
Is About Over; 'One
World' Or Fear Seen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8—Rep. Karl Mundt, R., S. D., believes that the next congress will deal with Russia strictly "on a reciprocal basis."

"The era of appeasement is about over," he said.

Mundt is a member of the house foreign affairs committee. He recently visited Russia as a member of a foreign affairs subcommittee. On his return he urged adoption of a strong U. S. policy in dealings with the Soviet Union.

At present, he said, the United States is "still friendly but is firming up" in its relations with Russia.

"I think we will be dealing with Russia on a reciprocal basis in the 80th congress," Mundt said in an interview.

He added that he believed the next congress may have to "take steps" to meet the situation in case Russia fails to cooperate with other nations. He did not indicate what steps he thought might be taken.

The South Dakota representative said a U. S. policy of firmness toward Russia would have one of two results.

If Russia wants to play ball, he said, it will mean "one world" with problems met by international action and conferences.

But, he added, "If Russia does not meet the nations on a friendly basis, it will mean division of the universe into two worlds and the future of world peace will look dark."

Mundt recalled that at the end of the war, "Russia still was our ally and friendly associate." Our attitude toward her, he said, "was one of complete appeasement."

"Today we are still friendly but firming up. The era of appeasement is about over and we soon will be dealing with her in terms of reciprocity."

He said he believed the United States is united in its attitude toward Russia and thought it will remain so.

The house has approved printing of an additional 5,000 copies of the report of Mundt's subcommittee. The report contained a detailed analysis of Russia and her attitude toward the rest of the world.

Rep. Frances P. Bolton, R., O., another subcommittee member, told a reporter the report was being used in schools and group discussions. He urged that other foreign affairs subcommittees study and report on other portions of the world for the enlightenment of the house and through it the entire nation.

ASHVILLE

Miss Peggy Weber visited over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. James Banker and family at Middletown.

The annual Ashville Lutheran Sunday School and congregation picnic will be held in Community Park at 5 p. m. Friday, August 9. Those attending are asked to bring the usual well-filled picnic basket with table service and sweetened tea.

Miss Dorothy Bumgarner has been removed from Mercy Hospital to her home in Walnut township where she is making rapid recovery from the effects of an appendectomy, and Elmer Malone, Jr. is also home after undergoing an appendectomy at Grant Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Harris and family are visiting with relatives in Union County.

Miss Maxine Oyler, local high school teacher, resigned last week. This is the first vacancy in the local teaching ranks.

Slight damage was done to Dr. C. J. Rockey's automobile when it caught fire at Long and Main streets Wednesday. Defective wiring was blamed.

Mrs. A. B. Courtright, Susan Courtright, John Courtright, Jr. and Jim Irwin spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Marietta, Parkersburg, W. Va. and other places of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Manford Finch of Evanston, Illinois, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. George McDowell and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Leatherwood and Eddie removed to their newly remodeled home on their Harrison Township farm Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Petty will remove into the Scoto street dwelling vacated by the Leatherwoods later this week.

Clyde Brinker has purchased the dwelling formerly a part of the Messick building. The new owner of the Messick building plans to raze the building for salvage in the near future.

NON-SKID RUGS

LOS ANGELES—You can say goodbye to skidding rugs, U. S. Rubber Co. promises, with a new type of underlay that will anchor scatter rugs and runners securely even to highly polished floors. The protective underlay is a sponge rubber cushion reinforced internally with strong fabric.

The company said it not only would guard against slides and painful deaths, but would save wear on the rugs and provide added depth.

STRANGE LITERATURE

THE late Gertrude Stein belonged in that select class of writers whom few read but everyone knows about. When she chose, she could write intelligibly and entertainingly, as is proved by her "Autobiography of Alice B. Toklas," but much of her writing consisted of baffling and seemingly meaningless repetitions, like the famous "A rose is a rose is a rose." Such apparent gibberish divided her readers into two furiously embattled classes, those who read into her books a secret inner meaning, and those who maintained that she was simply putting something over.

Much the same controversy raged over James Joyce, author of "Ulysses," especially after the appearance of "Finnegan's Wake." This was some 600 pages of words found in no dictionary, mostly combinations of two words that were meant to suggest something of each. Here Joyce followed a distinguished predecessor, Lewis Carroll, whose poem, "Jabberwocky," in "Through the Looking-Glass" was full of words like "slithy," a combination of "lithe" and "slimy," meant to suggest both.

The admirers of both Joyce and Stein called them creators of a new form of literary art. Both certainly could have written books on "How to Write Unintelligibly and Influence People."

THE PRICE OF SILVER

CONGRESS has finally decided that the price of silver shall be 90.5 cents an ounce for both government purchase and sale. No silver can be purchased by the Treasury at this price unless it has been mined within a year of the time it is offered. The present price is 71.11 cents an ounce, and this provision is aimed to prevent hoarding of 71.11 cent silver to sell at the higher price.

The Senate was willing to let silver sell for 90.3 cents for two years and then go to $1.29. The House sensibly refused to accept the latter outrageous figure, so the compromise was reached at 90.5 cents an ounce.

Most people who have to buy silver for use in scientific pursuits or in the arts think the 71.11 was still too high. The use of silver for tableware, whether in sterling or plate, is almost universal in the United States. Nothing has ever taken its place for enduring hard wear, for easy cleaning and for pleasant use, not to mention beauty, a certain measure of which every American expects on his dining table. Its use in medicine, photography and other scientific fields is necessary.

There is plenty of silver, but there is too much senatorial swapping of favors, apparently, to get its price to a reasonable level.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8—The Paris gathering of twenty-one nations to consider the big four peace deal started off under unique circumstances. The 170 mimeographed pages comprising the proposed texts was not given out until the second day of the meeting, so there was no opportunity for the small nations to study them ahead of time. A few days ahead, draft copies leaked out to a single New York Republican (imagine that) newspaper, but the press paid no attention. The scoop was sparsely published, and at least one paper here which received the story surprisingly slipped it into the wastebasket. Possibly the editor figured an unofficial text was as bad as no text at all. Thus has developed the peculiar start of a peace conference before the peace was drawn. And even when the official copies were given out they were found to be unfinished in relation to President Truman's demand for opening of the Danube basin to free commerce and some other matters.

Those expert newsmen who sifted the treaties thoroughly judged them to be very poorly drafted from a technical standpoint of expression, and charged this to the difficulties of translation, and the impossibility of expressing exact meanings in the different languages. As to the meanings of the agreements and their guarantees for future peace, few thought them any stronger than the governments which would operate them. They were filled with provisions subject to yes-and-no interpretations.

For instance, the promises of political freedom made the governments responsible for allowing the people freedom. The matter was mentioned in this way: "Hungary shall take all measures necessary to secure to all persons under Hungarian jurisdiction, without distinction of race, sex, language or religion, the enjoyment of human rights and of the fundamental freedoms, including freedom of expression, of press and publication, of religious worship, of political opinion and of public meeting," and so on. On its face you would think this guaranteed a fully constitutional free democracy for the nation, but the experts behind the scenes could hardly conceal the fact that it was no stronger than the intentions of the government which would put it into effect, and that Russian dominated government for instance, could give these words a different meaning than ours. At the very least the wording in this instance, and all through the documents, seemed to give enforcement of the provisions ultimately to the United Nations, where Russia has the veto power, and which organization is supposed to guarantee from now on, the condition set by the treaties. Inevitably, they must lead to bickering.

Thus, outside the state department, and the administration, there was noticeable considerable sentiment in favor of the Evatt position against the many vast gains of the Soviet Union, even though much of it was silent. Certainly there was full support for free and frank discussion, as the administration proposed, and every prospect that the conference would last a long time (some insiders said possibly months.) Full consideration was at the very least indispensable in the face of the proposed rule that decisions be made by two-thirds majority and the restriction on members participating in the committees. (The two-thirds rule, incidentally, is stated in a peculiar way to the effect that if 14 powers (Continued on Page Eight)

DIET AND HEALTH

Leg Ulcers and How They Form

By HERMAN M. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE blood is the great avenue of nutrition. Its services are required by every cell in the body. No organ can long function, no tissue continue in a healthy state without the oxygen and nourishment brought by the ever-circulating blood.

What happens when the free-flow of this life-giving fluid is interrupted depends on the nature and importance of the parts whose circulation is impaired. If a vital organ such as the kidney is affected, consequences are likely to be grave and spectacular; when circulation to the all-important heart is blocked, life itself is threatened.

Sudden Cutting Off

Sudden cutting off of circulation to the brain results in fainting or loss of consciousness, or even death, while long-continued decrease in the amount of blood pumped to the brain may result in mental clouding or confusion.

When circulation to the legs is slowed down because of the presence of enlarged or varicose veins, it is likely that ulcers will develop on the legs. The cells of the skin in such areas are not properly nourished, and hence cannot perform efficiently their work of resisting infection. Thus, even a slight injury may result in an infection which promptly leads to death of the tissues and the formation of a ulcer.

Such ulcers occur most often on the inner side of the lower third of the leg and ankle and rarely as high as the middle third of the leg, because it is here that the blood flows most sluggishly and the skin is exposed to most chance of injury.

They may be extremely painful. Inflammation of the surrounding skin is always present and often there is a great deal of foul-smelling discharge. Caused in the first place by poor circulation, such sores are slow to heal for the same reason.

According to Dr. Leonard K. Stalker of Rochester, New York, the important part of the treatment of the ulcer in most cases is to tie off the varicose veins and get rid of them. If this is done, very little other treatment will be necessary and the ulcers can be healed with the patient up and about. It is also true that if a patient is kept at bed rest with his leg raised slightly above the level of the body, the varicose ulcer may often heal without further treatment.

However, as soon as the patient begins to walk about, fluid begins to collect in the tissues and the ulcer recurs. Thus, in addition to the tying off of the veins, some type of elastic support is needed.

Bland Ointment

A bland ointment may also be applied to the ulcerated areas. Dr. Stalker has not found it necessary to keep a patient in bed when this type of treatment is used. In the majority of instances, the ulcer can be expected to heal within a period of four to six weeks following the tying off of the veins. In some cases the healing is interfered with by the severity of the infection present.

In most of these instances the trouble can be combated by using one of the sulfonamide drugs or penicillin.

LET HIM PLAY THE HAND

IF YOU have none too strong an opening suit bid and your partner makes a one-over-one response in another suit, you don't know whether he is strong in general or weak. But if your own rebid is followed by his minimum rebid of the suit he showed first, you have no license to count on him for a thing except considerable length in that suit. His bid is as near to a complete sign-off as exists in the game, barring a pass. It warns you that the pair will probably be better off playing in his suit, with you laying down a fair dummy, than with you playing it and a worthless dummy opposite you.

And right there South dropped out of the bidding, at the very worst time. His partner should have dropped out after hearing the 2-spades sign-off rebid, and that contract could have been made without much ado, one trick being lost in trumps and two in each minor. Besides a nice part-score of 60, the pair would have had 100 honors.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

CHARIE stopped on the stairs to dab at her cheeks which were still wet. Trent mustn't see. . . .

Brisco Nolan sat with Trent at the desk.

"... who likes the kind of people you like?" went swiftly across Charie's mind.

"Hello! Home, eh?" But Trent said it mechanically. His face was hard as it had been the night before, his jaw a little out-thrust.

"Yes. Good evening, Brisco. Will I disturb you?"

"No. We're through." Trent pushed back his hair with a tired gesture.

Charie carried her bag to the other end of the room. She wondered if Trent would notice her new dress. In a cool, angry part of her she hoped he would. "I am like Flo!"

"Guess you don't need me any more," said Brisco, getting to his feet.

Trent held out a hand to Brisco. "I'm darned appreciative of what you've done. And you realize, don't you, what you may have left yourself in for? You'll be called to give this evidence before the Grand Jury. . . ."

"It won't be the first time I've told what I knew to be so, to a jury," said Brisco, proudly. "Good night, Mrs. Renner."

Trent went back to the desk from the door and stood there clipping some papers together. He frowned down at them for a moment, shoved them into a drawer, a little finally in the way he did it.

Curiously won over the confusion of feeling in Charie: "Are you all through with it, Trent?"

"Seem to be." He turned from the desk. In the light from the desk lamp his face looked thin and white but his jaw still had its dogged set.

"Did you have a good time at your mother's?"

"Wonderful. It was grand, seeing the crowd again. Ollie Kingdom drove me down."

"The chap who gave you the birthday ring? I'd have come for you, if you'd telephoned me."

"I knew you were working. . . . Charie flushed a little, realizing she had not thought of calling him. She began to unfasten her dress. "Like it?" she asked, coming a little closer to Trent. "It's new. From Trent's!"

"Does that make it different? It's pretty—the blue is the color of your eyes." But he was looking at her and not at the dress, his face curiously troubled. He flung out an arm, pulled her to him, said a little unsteadily, "Charie, if I'm forced into standing pat on—something, will you stand with me?"

"How do I know—if you don't tell me what it is? Her voice had an alarmed note, under its half-laugh.

It wasn't the answer he had hoped she would give. He released her. "I guess I had no right to ask you that. But it's terribly on my mind. . . . It happens that the man who owns that slum quarter and is making a lot of money out of it and intends to go on making it, even if he has to resort to bribery to do so, is—James Muir!"

No personal connection with it touched Charie's mind. Her face reflected only utter disbelief. "Trent, that's perfectly crazy! Why, James Muir's too nice to own places like that! It just isn't so—you'll find it isn't so and feel terribly foolish. . . ."

"But if it is?" persisted Trent, quietly.

"You mean. . . . Charie caught his meaning. "Why, then, you simply couldn't go on with it!"

Trent turned away.

"Let's go to bed. I'm dead tired."

Charie was too overwrought by her whole day to fall asleep at once. She must think of what Trent had just told her, reassure herself that it couldn't be James Muir, that that was crazy. She must not think of what Ollie had said, driving down.

But she did, with indignation that he had dared to say it and a disturbing feeling that he had had a right to!

Trent had kissed her and then had gone to the other bed where he lay, one arm flung over his head, his face turned to the wall, apparently asleep.

After a little, she fell asleep. It was Trent who lay awake, staring at the wall. . . .

"So this is Midland!"

They were driving through the hub of its enterprise. Two-story brick buildings, wall to wall, faced one another across a sun-baked and almost deserted street. Shop windows were grimed with dust. The lettering of the various signs in second-floor windows had a washed-out look. The few pedestrians abroad walked with a lackadaisical step. The flag over the post office drooped on its pole.

"Humming. . . . It?" laughed Neil Winlow. "I suppose there's a hotel. . . . Oh, I see it! 'Union House.' Wouldn't it be? Pray that it has running water!"

"There's the college," said Flo, sitting forward on the seat as a street crossing gave view of a quadrangle of dull, brick buildings beyond. "How completely uninspiring," she cried with indignation.

There was running water in the Union House and they found adjoining rooms. Neil glanced a little doubtfully over the drab furnishings. "Can you take it, Flo? Perhaps I was selfish in urging you to come!"

"I'm going to enjoy it!" asserted Flo. "You're not to worry about me a single minute! You go ahead with your 'research.' She added, with a half-laugh, "I may do some, too."

She meant on herself. But she did not want to tell Neil Winlow of the confusion in her own affairs—certainly not until she could see some way out of it.

They had stayed through the night in an old house miles from a town. After a supper of ham and eggs that had gone out on the porch and sat on a step, side by side, talking.

Neil had done most of the talking, sitting with her arms hugging her knees. Suddenly she had put her cheek down against her hands and said, "A place like this gives me the most gorgeous nostalgia!"

Before Flo, in her astonishment, could speak, she had gone on. "You see I grew up in one very much like it! White, green blinds, old trees like these, bullfrogs or what-ever—the same smells. Just outside of Warrensburg, in the Adirondacks. My grandfather built the house—only he was a doctor like my father, only he was the horse-and-buggy kind."

She paused, her eyes off into the dusk over the open fields. "My mother died when I was a year old and my grandmother reared me—that's her word and believe me, it was that! She was a grand old girl. . . . I realize, now, looking back over quite a few years—thirty-four, if you're wondering—just how grand she was. There were a raft of relatives round about and she ran the caboodle of 'em. Like a matriarch."

She said, then, with a little laugh, "Hear me go on! And I'm probably boring you!"

"Oh, you're not!" cried Flo. It was more than a story of a past childhood; it was somehow this new friend as she was, now. "Please go on!"

"It's this house! You know, I think a memory of a good, happy childhood is the best thing parents can leave to their kids!"

Flo remembered the compassionate look Neil had given her that afternoon in the Warwick.

Neil Winlow laughed. "It's all my Dad and Grand had leave me! The house went for taxes—Dad was a good doctor but a rotten businessman."

"When did you begin to write?" asked Flo.

"In college, to be exact. Character sketches. I sent one to the Atlantic and by some miracle it sold. But unfortunately it was one of the professors and so true that I was asked to leave college. . . ."

Her laugh held no rancor. "The next year both Dad and Grand died and I went to New York, and I've been there, off and on, up and down, ever since."

Flo wondered if it were in those first years in New York Neil had known Cole Gidding. But she did not ask it aloud. She had not thought of Cole since that moment at her telephone when she had almost called him, and she did not want to think or talk about him, now.

"Fourteen years, and I haven't written anything yet that is good!"

"Why—'Joyful Fields'?" Flo protested. "It sold awfully well, didn't it?"

"To write—yes! But it was too easy to write—everything about Teresa Carlisle was so on the surface. Even her love affairs. . . . No, I mean a job that when you're done, you can say you've put all you've got into it!"

STARS SAY—

For Thursday, August 8

A SUDDEN, disruptive and deep-seated turn of events may have power to upset all plans, objectives and desires, affecting not only business and commonplace ambitions but having equal power for havoc and disintegration on social, domestic and affectional relations.

Strife, acrimony, arrogance and jealousy assist such untoward situations, but all is not hopeless, since there is sign of an "eleventh hour friend" to intervene, compose and comfort. Accept this graciously and with sound sense and appreciation.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year in which sudden events may call for a revamping of plans and purposes, if not an unpredictable upset in geographical environs and in social, domestic and romantic ties.

Business might also be radically spaded up, especially where jealousy, enmity, harsh words and drastic actions may be the inciting cause for disruption. However, there is promise of a friendly gesture from influential sources, whose good office should be gratefully and graciously accepted.

A child born on this day may be temperamental and erratic with unhappy reactions on its progress and peace of mind. Restraints and good manners and impulses may win a worthwhile friend or advisor.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (U.P.)—Grocer James Baker calmly told a man who came to rob him that he had no money and even if he did he'd have use for it himself.

Confused, the gunman apologized for his attempted hold-up, said "I wouldn't be doing this if I didn't have to," grabbed a pack of cigarettes and fled.

Teachers Start Journey To England Assignments

Misses Mettler and Dinsmore Sail August 13

Miss Helen Mettler, a sister of Mrs. William Goodchild, Beverly Road, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Mettler, Laurelville, will sail August 13 to England with Miss Agnes Dinsmore, Ashland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Dinsmore, formerly of this city.

Both women have been selected under the federal project of the national education association to exchange home economics teachers and will teach for one year in the British schools.

Miss Mettler and Miss Dinsmore plan to leave Ohio Thursday for New York City where they will spend several days sight seeing prior to sailing.

The voyage will require eight days and upon arrival at Southampton they will be taken to London where they will have a period of orientation to British life and customs before they go to their respective schools.

Miss Mettler will teach domestic science at Queenswood school at Hatfield, Hertfordshire, 16 miles from London and Miss Dinsmore will teach in Ipswich, England.

For the last three years Miss Mettler has been home economics instructor in the high school at Fostoria. She received both her bachelor of arts and her masters degrees at Ohio State university.

Miss Dinsmore is a graduate of Bowling Green college, Bowling Green, and has been employed as a teacher in the Ashland schools.

The girls will sail from Pier 90, North River, New York City on the S. S. Argentina.

DOROTHY LUTZ BECOMES WIFE OF JAY SEABURN

Miss Dorothy Lutz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Lutz, near Kingston, became the bride of Jay Seaburn, son of Mrs. John Seaburn, Williamsport.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. S. Meyer Monday afternoon at his home in Columbus.

For her wedding Miss Lutz wore a white wine street length dress with a high neckline and navy blue accessories. She wore crystal earrings and her shoulder corsage was of red rose buds.

The new Mrs. Seaburn was graduated from Saltercreek high school and for the last four years has been associated with the J. C. Penney Company, in Circleville.

Mr. Seaburn is a graduate of Williamsport high school.

After a short wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Seaburn will make their home near Williamsport where Mr. Seaburn is engaged in farming.

Caution Urged To Reduce Hazards In Home Canning

Preliminary skirmishes of Ohio homemakers with the 1946 canning season already have resulted in some serious casualties, so Alma Garvin, extension nutritionist, Ohio State University, suggests that the home canning brigade check over the list of canning season hazards so they can be avoided during the brisker fall campaigns.

First up on Miss Garvin's list of lethal hazards is oven canning. Many homemakers and their grandmothers have used ovens for canning and never had to duck hurtling pieces of the stove or the glassware, but oven canning always is dangerous because any time lids are screwed so tightly on jars that steam cannot escape their will be an explosion.

Defective jars which break under pressure are very dangerous because they often deluge the homemaker with scalding liquid. Jar tops should be adjusted according to the type of container, some of them can be closed more tightly than others. A heavy cloth will protect hands from burns while hot jars are being removed.

Canning usually has to be done along with other household work, and people in a hurry are likely to bump into projections so handles of utensils should not extend beyond the edge of the stove. Unwashed kettles may boil over and put out the flame on a gas burning stove and the unburned gas may collect and explode when the burner is relighted.

Operation of pressure cookers should include several safety factors. The pressure gauge and the petcock should be checked to make sure they will work. The cooker always should contain enough water so it will not boil dry.

After the food is processed in the pressure cooker, the homemaker still should remember to let the pressure drop to zero and then wait a minute or two before opening the petcock slowly. Even then, the canner should be opened by first tilting the far side of the lid so steam can escape without coming in contact with the canner's hands or face.

An average serving of oatmeal without sugar and cream equals approximately two slices of bread in food value.

Carol Ann Arledge Is Honored Guest At Birthday Party

Twenty little friends of Carol Ann Arledge gathered at her home Tuesday afternoon to help her celebrate her fifth birthday anniversary. During the afternoon the children played many games including musical chair and pin-the-tail-on-the-donkey with prizes awarded to Carol Lynn Heiskell and Sharon Kay Woods.

Refreshments were served on the back lawn of the Arledge home on East Union street. Five small tables were arranged in a color scheme of pink and white with small baskets of candy to mark each place.

The little guests included Butchie and Carol Lynn Heiskell, Sharon Kay Woods, Melody Shea, Linda Henkle, Ronnie Miller, Jerry Walters, Sandra Kay Hatmaker, Sonny Davis, Joe Cupp, Choe Ann Cupp, Johnny Cupp, Eleanor Cupp, Dickie Garrett, George Garrett, Carolyn Garrett, and David Garrett, Carolyn Owens, Ruth Grubb, Barbara Arledge, and Donnie Joe Arledge.

Assisting Mrs. Arledge in serving were Mrs. H. S. Fry and Mrs. Wayne Hatmaker.

TO HAVE PICNIC

Members of the Union Guild will hold their annual picnic Wednesday at 7 p. m. in Ted Lewis park. Mrs. Mae Cupp and Mrs. Drusie Pontious will be hostesses for the occasion and all members and former members and their families are invited to attend. # TAXES SIMPLE MATTER IN OHIO REPORTER FINDS

Everybody Pays As State Takes In $500,000,000 Every 12 Months

BY LAURENCE JAEGER
United Press Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS, Aug. 8.—Taxes are like women.

You know they exist, but when you try to look beyond mere figures you make no headway.

With this in mind, United Press determined today to bring Ohio's tax problem down to simple, understandable terms.

And these are—you're hooked, brother. No matter what you do, you're hooked.

For instance: you get up in the morning and brush your teeth—and your toothpaste was taxed when you bought it. In fact, if they're not your own teeth, even they were taxed.

So you have your breakfast, and of course your food was taxed at the grocery. You drive down to the office and your gasoline—taxed. If your business is a corporation, it's taxed. If it's not a corporation, your goods are taxed instead.

Somebody tells you about a good market tip, but your stocks are taxed, too, so what's the use. If you go to a movie to forget that's taxed.

Well, maybe you can't take it any more so you go down to Joe's to lose a weekend. But your beer is taxed. When you light up a cigarette you find that's taxed. If you want to swear off smoking, you can't because the man who sells cigarettes is taxed, too, and he needs your change.

By now you find yourself wondering where all this money goes. The state takes in nearly $500,000,000 a year but about three-fifths of it goes back to city and county governments. What the state itself is left with is put into a general fund, out of which the budget is figured and all expenses are paid.

Here's where you begin to get back a little of your faith in humanity when you see how your money is spent.

Nearly half of it goes each year for education—maintaining state universities, public schools and schools for the handicapped.

Almost the full other half is used for social welfare. This includes pensions, retirements, social work, jails and the like.

The next biggest item is administrative expense. This takes up approximately five per cent of the state budget, and includes a 16 per cent wage rise granted last year to state servants.

The next largest item of expenditure is for conservation of wildlife. Here about two per cent of the state income is laid out.

Military expenses rank next with roughly one per cent of the yearly income going for maintenance of the state guard and related activities.

The rest is just chicken feed—a small $3,000,000 divided between other state divisions, such as the legislative, judiciary, the archaeological and historical society and reforestation and experimentation work.

So—now you see how simple it all is. Except for the fact that estimates of income and expenditure must be made two years in

COAL TRUCKERS FINED ON LIGHT WEIGHT CHARGES

Henry Oliver, 65, Columbus, and Richard Epple, 18, Route 2, Wellstone, were arrested Wednesday afternoon by Ned H. Dresbach, Pickaway county deputy sealer of weights and measures, each charged with possessing a false weight slip for coal truck cargoes.

Epple's weight slip showed 5,000 more pounds than his cargo, according to Dresbach who made the arrest on U. S. Route 23 north of Circleville when Epple attempted to sell coal to him. Dresbach said that Oliver, taken into custody at Ashville, had a coal cargo weighing 810 pounds less than shown on his weight slip.

Both truckers pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Elmer Malone at Ashville. Epple paid a fine of $50 and costs. Oliver was fined $25 and costs.

Midget Auto Races At Ohio State Fair

COLUMBUS (Special) — Midget Auto Races, one of the most exciting of all sports, will be a big attraction Saturday, August 24th, the first day of the 92nd Ohio State Fair, at Columbus.

A full program of auto races will be held both Saturday afternoon and night, on the race track, and will attract some of the country's leading speed demons.

Another spectacular opening-day feature will be an elaborate display of fireworks.

The Ohio State Fair—first since 1941—will run from August 24th through August 30th.

JUSTICE MARRIES COUPLE

Ceremony uniting in marriage, Frank Vernon Leist, 26, grinder, Columbus, and Leona Pauline Rodgers, 364 Town street, was performed by Justice of the Peace Harold O. Eveland, it was announced Thursday.

advance because of the many departments involved, you're probably thinking anyone could handle Buckeye finances.

What is there to it?—you may be saying to yourself—it just means keeping your eye on more than $150,000,000 a year. And maybe you think you could do it. Like to try?

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

agree on a course, the matter should be taken back to the big four council, where of course Russia can exercise a veto by non-acceptance.

The prospects of freedom of trade are similarly elusive and almost impossible to track down to final conclusions as to their precise meaning and how they will work out.

So when Mr. Byrnes said upon his departure that we were "on the road back to peace," he neglected to mention the rocks and the quicksands in it and the steepness of the incline. What impressed his hearers most was his earnestness—more than his documents. His line which struck the most whole-hearted accord was that the job ahead is not only to help to make the peace, but (and this is the important part) "we must help to make the peace work."

SHOEMAKERS FACE HOLIDAY

COLUMBUS, Aug. 8.—Shoe manufacturers here, who employ nearly 4000 persons, may be forced to close their plants within a week because of a shortage of leather, spokesmen of four major companies said today. The cause of the shortage, they agreed, was the fact that new OPA ceilings on raw and processed hides were set lower than the level to which prices rose while OPA was out of existence. Slaughterers and tanners refused to sell at new ceilings, the officials said.

Selective culling of poultry flocks is needed to conserve grain.

VAUGHN MONROE SHOW

Alvino Rey, master of the "singing guitar" will be Vaughn Monroe's special guest, when the Vaughn Monroe Show broadcasts Thursday at 9 p. m. Rey will be heard in a solo selection, and in a special arrangement combining his guitar with Monroe's orchestra. Monroe and Betty Norton are the featured vocalists. The broadcast will originate at Eastwood Gardens, Detroit.

INSIDE OF SPORTS

Bill Brandt, MBS sports commentator, will tell how three former members of the old Baltimore Orioles—Lefty Grove, Al Thomas and Red Ruffing—were involved in the all-time no-shutout streak of the New York Yankees on his "Inside Of Sports" Friday, (6:45-7 p. m., EST) over Mutual. The Yanks were blanked by Cy Moore at Boston on August 2, 1931, and for two years and one day—308 ball games—the Yankees avoided the whitewash—a record unparalleled in baseball history.

MUSICAL TRIBUTE

The famed 82nd Airborne Division, whose parachute and glider infantrymen dropped behind German lines to spearhead the invasions of Normandy and Holland, receives a musical salute from the 80 piece U. S. Army Band, under the direction of Chief Warrant Officer Hugh P. Curry, as Mutual presents another edition of "Division Diary," Friday (11:30-12 noon, EST). Boasting a rich military heritage that dates back to World War One, when the famed Sgt. Alvin York was in the division's ranks, the 82nd also fought in the African, Sicilian and Italian campaigns.

letter, each bearing the message that in the event he is found apparently dead, the finder should notify his physician, who will treat him for catalepsy. When Bowers is struck down in an accident, the bracelet is torn from him and lost, and the letter is left behind in his coat when he is taken away, apparently dead, in an ambulance. What happens to the bracelet and the letter, while preparations are made to bury him, make a hair-raising tale of "Suspense."

CAMP MEETING TO START HERE ON AUGUST 21

Thousands To Attend Daily
Church Sessions At Mount Of Praise

Twenty-ninth annual camp meeting of the Churches in Christ in Christian Union will open at Mount of Praise, East Ohio street, August 21.

Four outstanding evangelists have been secured for the services which will last through September 1, members of the committee in charge of the meetings announced Thursday.

Dr. T. M. Anderson, Wilmore, Ky., making his 15th appearance on the program, Dr. John R. Church, Winston-Salem, N. C., The Rev. Bona Fleming, Columbus, Ohio, and the Rev. E. Clay Milby, Benton, Ark., who will be the song evangelist, have been secured for the series of meetings. Others taking a leading part in the program will be Rev. Charles Lucas, Dearborn, Mich., young people's evangelist, and the Rev. Edna Leonard, Oak Hill, Ohio, children's worker.

The committee, which includes the Rev. A. E. Sagar, pastor of the Circleville Church of Christ in Christian Union, the Rev. W. L. Cozad, Lancaster, and the Rev. E. A. Keaton, North Columbus, church pastor, has been swamped with requests for accommodations at the camp grounds. Annually the meetings attract thousands of visitors from all over Ohio and neighboring states but new attendance records are expected at this year's sessions, the first since wartime restrictions have been lifted.

Extensive improvements have been made at the Mount of Praise and the committee announces that every effort will be made to provide accommodations for the large crowds expected.

Prayer and praise services, missionary meetings and bible teaching will be daily features at the camp meeting. Service hours will be 7, 8 and 10:30 a. m.; 1, 2, 6 and 7:30 p. m.

The annual camp meetings were started here in 1918 and the Rev. Mr. Keaton, who is on the committee again this year, has been connected with every session since then.

Visitors to the camp meeting will be housed in the camp ground dormitories, private homes, hotels and tourist homes. Others will "commute" daily from their homes in nearby communities. The committee announced that several hundred people who had requested dormitory space would be disappointed and forced to seek accommodation elsewhere.

SALES TAX REPORT

Sales of prepaid Ohio sales tax receipts in Pickaway county for the week ended July 27 totaled $2,792.84, as compared with $1,573.85 during the corresponding week a year ago, it was disclosed Thursday by a statistical report issued from the office of State Treasurer Don H. Ebright. The report also showed that prepaid state sales tax receipts in Pickaway county thus far in 1946 aggregated $82,503.74, as against $53,667.44 in the same period in 1945.
